THE TROUBLE IN MEXICO.

on the Fears of a Genuine Revolution Canadian Customs Officers Vigilant at Calais Bridge.

Entertained.

Foot Another Battle Fought Between Mexicans and Revolutionists.

Hor- In Which the Latter were Victorious.

CHICAGO, Dec. 23. Reports, although conflicting, come from every part of the northern side of the Republic indicating a growth of the revolutionary movement. Dispatches are being rushed to and from Mexican officials to the United States officers on the frontier, and fears are entertained that there will be a genuine revolution in Mexico in the near future. It is impossible to gain any information from those high in authority, as every one is under the strictest orders not to make public the telegram, but this much is positively known, that there was a battle the 17th on Mexican soil, near Guerrero, between the Mexican troops and the Revolutionists, with a victory for the latter. Another battle took place on the 19th, when ten men were killed at Corralvo, where there is a garrison. At this place, five of the Mexican soldiers were burned to death.

A MAN DIES IN A POLICE STATION.

Mr. Templeton Was Once Rich and a Trustee of the Brooklyn Tabernacle.

James A. Templeton, a shoe-maker, who was well known to Wall street men, died suddenly yesterday morning in the Old Slip Police Station. He was arrested for intoxication on Monday night, and locked up in a cell. Soon after 7 A. M. yesterday, the doorman noticed that the prisoner was ill, and had him carried to the sitting room of the station. An ambulance surgeon was called and began an examination of the sick man, but Templeton died in a few minutes. His death was said to have been caused by heart failure.

Templeton was forty-six years old, and had a wife and five children living at No. 102 St. Mark's Place, Brooklyn. One of his sons is a student in a Broadway law office. Templeton was once a wealthy man and was a trustee of Dr. Talmage's Tabernacle in Brooklyn. It was said yesterday that he had lost two fortunes by speculations in Wall street. When he was proprietor of the shoe shop at No. 26 Exchange Place, some years ago, his income from his business was said to be about $500 a week.

Not content with his business, he plunged into stock speculations, which swept away his savings again and again. Habits of drink grew upon him, but his customers in the shoe trade did not desert him until he began to neglect his business. Lately he had a shop at No. 4 Hanover street, and let the rear part of it to M. T. Nicholson & Son, broker. His life was said to be insured for $10,000. His wife is a dress-maker.

A FANCY CASE.

Father McGlynn Restored to Priesthood.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. The famous case of Father McGlynn, of St. Stephen's church, New York city, has finally been decided by the restoration to him of authority to perform his priestly functions. The settlement of the case came within the scope of the general power vested in Mgr. Batelli, the papal legate and the decision was promulgated by him to-night at the Catholic University, where he is stopping.

Late to-night the following statement was furnished by a representative of Batelli: "To the end that many contradictory telegrams sent out may be corrected it is thought expedient to state that at 9 o'clock P. M. Dr. McGlynn was declared free from ecclesiastical censures and restored to the exercise of priestly functions after having satisfied the Pope's legate on all points in his case."

The question of McGlynn's return to St. Stephen's must be settled, the authorities here say, by Archbishop Corrigan, of New York.

Dr. Blaine's Condition Shows More Favorable Symptoms.

His Physicians Say He Is Better in Many Respects.

Getting Nature And Refreshing Sleep, the Doctor Says.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. The news from Mr. Blaine this morning was more cheerful than at any time this week. He has not only continued to hold his own but shows a number of favorable symptoms heretofore absent—to a slight extent, a return to the sanguine temperament, which has been one of his characteristics, is noticeable this morning; his pulse is better; his temperature lower, and he takes nourishment better. The doctors will not discuss the medical features of the case, but it seems probable that Mr. Blaine has had a fever along with the other very serious features of his illness, and that this fever has been allayed in part, at least. Dr. Johnston, after his visit this morning, said: "Mr. Blaine is better to-day than yesterday, in several respects."

"Mr. Blaine shows improvement in condition," said Dr. Johnston this evening. "When I saw him this evening he was looking very cheerful, and everything seemed favorable for a quiet night."

Later on at the Blaine residence the lights were burning brightly throughout the house and the outward bearing of the servants was more cheerful than for a week past. Inquiry at the door brought forth the response that Mr. Blaine seemed greatly improved.

At 11:30 to-night Dr. Johnston had just returned to his residence from a visit to Mr. Blaine. He found him quite as well as at any time during the day. Said the doctor: "You know this morning he was quite a good deal better than Wednesday. He sleeps just as a well man does, and it is natural and he receives the usual benefit which comes from restful slumber."

A rumor prevailed quite extensively today that members of the Mr. Blaine's family had telegraphed for Cardinal Gibbons to visit the sick man, but investigation proved that it was unfounded.

The light was turned off at 2 A. M. in Mr. Blaine's apartments and there is every prospect of a quiet night.

THE COUNT-OUT EPISODE.

Mr. Blaine Wrote the Letter in spite of this Misleading Hint.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. Mrs. May Merrill Dunn, daughter of the late Senator Lot M. Morrill, of Maine, writes in contradiction of the story that a letter bearing Mr. Morrill's signature in relation to the Maine election controversy urging upon Governor Garcelon the propriety of submitting the question at issue to the Supreme Court was, in fact, written by Mr. Blaine, but copied and signed by Mr. Morrill. She says, "It is unfortunate that with the wealth of fitting material in the political history of our country to draw upon for illustrations of Mr. Blaine's wonderful versatility and ability, Mr. Boutelle should have chosen the matter in regard to which he is strikingly misinformed."

"The fact simply is this, as I learned it from my father's own lips: Every effort had been made by the Republicans to effect a settlement of this bitter fight, but without success. The able chairman of the state committee sent to my father asking for his advice and assistance. They were given in the shape of the aforesaid letter, of which he was both the author and signer. The name of Lot M. Morrill, wherever known, was a synonym for absolute honesty, and of all he would have been the last to accept the praise due to another."

Wild Scenes in the French Chamber of Deputies.

Officials Demounced amid Storms of Hisses and Cheers.

Attempt to Cause Dissolution of Government Fails.

PARIS, Dec. 23. The scene in the Chamber of Deputies to-day when Mr. Millevoye interpellated the ministry regarding the advance of money by the Panama Canal Company, was of the most stormy character. Millevoye said he desired to question the government as to facts in its possession relative to the use by the former President of contributions from the Panama Canal Company, whose corrupt and criminal operations are now being investigated. President Floquet vacated the chair, M. Peytral taking his place.

M. Floquet repeated what he had stated before the committee of investigation. He reiterated with emphasis that while a member of the ministry he had never had any improper purpose in the insertion of paid political advertisements in the press.

Count Jules DeBarnes, an ardent royalist, indulged in a violent attack on M. Floquet and denounced his conduct in the alleged bribing of newspapers under cover of political advertising. The Count exclaimed: "You not only allowed the people to be robbed of their savings but were an accomplice in a heinous crime."

At this there was the wildest excitement. Deputies stood, waved their arms and shouted, some in denunciation and others in approval of the language used by Count DeBarnes. When order was restored in some degree M. Millevoye indulged in a violent attack on M. Rouvier. Millevoye was repeatedly applauded by the Boulangists, royalists and imperialists. It was evident that fewer Republicans were inclined to join in adding to the excitement.

M. Rouvier arose to make an explanation and defense of his conduct. He said that at the time of the Boulangist agitation certain people lent the Government fifty thousand to one hundred thousand francs to supply the pressing want of secret service funds to keep up the fight against Boulanger and prevent him and his followers from carrying out their schemes against the Republic. "I never," added M. Rouvier, "had anything to do with the Panama Canal Co., and never attempted to control the press."

When Baron Reinach offered to help the government I refused to accept his assistance."

M. Rouvier exclaimed warmly, "I always upheld the flag of Parliamentarism and of the Republic, and I always will."

When M. Rouvier concluded, M. Millevoye stepped into the speaker's tribune. The present cabinet, he said, was trusted neither by the people nor their representatives. Both the members and adherents were in the shadow of fatal suspicion. The men chosen to serve the high interests of France are falling daily under the charge of misrepresentation of those interests. The time had come for an appeal to the preference of the electors (Applause on the right, disorder on the left.)

On behalf of those who had the honor of France at heart he demanded dissolution.

At this point the uproar on the floor interrupted M. Millevoye and he stood silent until the cheers and shouts of protest had subsided. Then he moved a vote of "no confidence." As he left the tribune there was little demonstration. Premier Ribot rose to defend the government amid profound silence. M. Millevoye, contended M. Ribot, was attempting to bring to trial not individuals, but the republican institutions of France.

The Floquetists Against the Republic should not delude themselves with the idea that dissolution would accomplish the ends, for the people knew their enemies and the masks of their enemies. The whole machinery of the law has been set in motion to punish the guilty. Can you not wait for the verdict? (prolonged cheers). This agitation was intended, not to purify the government, not to serve the people, but merely to serve the ends of certain designing politicians.

M. Millevoye's motion of "no confidence" was lost, 333 to 81.

In the Senate to-day the special committee's report in favor of authorizing the procureur general to proceed against Senators Renault, Beral, Thvenet, Deves and Albert Grevy was adopted, and requisite permission was granted.

The Panama Canal investigating committee continued its inquiry to-day.

Deputies Salis and Fouquet confirmed the statement made by Count Caffarelli yesterday that M. Gyves-Cuyot, formerly minister of public works, but said that President Carnot had seen the full list of men compromised in the scandal. Witnesses declared that M. Constant had given the President a list of a hundred deputies implicated.

M. Mare, editor of the Radical, denied that his paper had been bribed.

The sub committee from the parliament investigating commission seized this afternoon at the offices of the Panama Canal Company 17,000 counterfeit bonds, "Payable to bearer."

Dr. G. C. Osceola, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Kneeland, Conway, Ark.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any preparation known to me."

Dr. A. A. Archer, M. D., 111 No. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
